ACADEMIC RESEARCH FUNDING

As of this writing I have no external research funding. During my career I have received financial support for academic research from the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada, the Institute for New Economic Thinking (in partnership with the Centre for International Governance Innovation), the Donner Canadian Foundation and the University of Guelph. I have never sought nor received any funding from private sector corporations in support of academic research. All external funding sources for any academic research are, to the best of my recollection, disclosed in the resulting publications.

EXTERNAL AFFILIATIONS

I am a Senior Fellow of the Fraser Institute and a member of the Academic Advisory Council of the Global Warming Policy Foundation. These are unpaid appointments. Neither organization exercises any editorial influence, oversight or control over my research. I have previously also been affiliated as fellow or adjunct scholar with the Frontier Centre for Public Policy and the Cato Institute, and I have done additional paid or unpaid writing on policy topics for a variety of think tanks in Canada, the US and elsewhere. All my writings for these and any other groups represent my views only and the sponsoring organizations exerted no editorial control.

CONSULTING

I have provided paid and unpaid consulting services to private sector entities in the law, manufacturing, communications, policy analysis, distilling and technology sectors. This work is strictly separate from my academic research. None of my academic research has ever originated from consulting work.

PAID AND UNPAID PUBLIC SPEAKING

In addition to participating in academic seminars and conferences I am regularly asked to speak to community groups in Southern Ontario which sometimes involves an honorarium. I am occasionally asked to speak at think tank or policy-related events for which travel expenses are reimbursed and occasionally an honorarium is paid. In all such cases I retain full editorial control over my remarks.
